"CORPORATE" INTERESTS BEATEN IN CONVENTION

Heney and Pinchot Defeat Santa Fe Man For Presidency of Irrigation Congress—State Rights Lose—Fairweather an Officer.

(Special to the Republican.)
PUEBLO, Colo., Sept. 30.—Another battle for progressive principles of government has been fought and won. It was led by Gifford Pinchot and Francis J. Heney. These men brought into the National Irrigation Congress, which closed this afternoon, the broad questions of the progressive doctrine and succeeded in making these questions overshadow, in the closing hours of the congress, the local and sectional issues that had occupied too much of the convention's time.

The states rights issue was carried to the floor in an unexpected way. It was known that a majority report would be made, but the character and even the text of what the states rights members wanted was well known, for a draft had been freely circulated. But when ex-Governor Adams of Colorado offered his substitute for the reported states rights clause, he chose the precise phrasology used in the New York state platform published yesterday and declared that it was drawn by Theodore Roosevelt and that it was entirely satisfactory to those favoring state control. This presentation was intended to be a sensational coup.

Adams and others spoke on it and used the Roosevelt authorship or assumed authorship for all it was worth. But the congress saw it in only a sort of compromise, much less to its liking than the committee's more elaborate and advanced statement of principles, and, on a roll call of states, the committee was sustained by a vote of 213 to 147.

(By Associated Press.)
PUEBLO, Sept. 30.—Under our law, state and national, four-fifths of the resources of the country already have passed into the hands of monopolists. We of the conservation movement are trying to save the other fifth for the people.

Francis J. Heney, speaking before the National Irrigation Congress here on the last day of its session, was given an ovation today when he defined the purpose of the conservationists in these words:

"Two-thirds of our coal lands have already been given away," he continued.

"Any policy advocating the retention of ineffective laws for the giving away of the other third of our birthright can only be considered a policy of foolishness."

"Why were we not wise enough to act when the Populists told us these things fifteen years ago?"

"Instead we waited until Roosevelt took up the fight and until President Taft endorsed the Roosevelt program before the St. Paul conservation congress."

The sum of $5,000,000 acres to transcontinental railroads, Heney declared, involved more land than all that has been reclaimed by irrigation and taken up in homesteads.

Resolutions adopted by the congress declare that "Federal control is essential to equitable distribution and utilization of water of interstate streams."

Creation of a special agency through which the government shall act is recommended.

FIGHT ON PRESIDENT.

An unprecedented thing so far as to the irrigation congress is concerned happened today when the congress declined to accept the nominee of its committee for U. S. presidency. The open fight began yesterday. It was started by Mr. Pinchot, when he recommended to the congress that in the future no one employed by an interstate or public service corporation interested in water rights or irrigation projects should be allowed to address the congress unless he first stated his corporation connections. This suggestion was received so favorably that after letting the delegates sleep over it, Mr. Pinchot this morning offered it as a new rule for the governing of the congress, providing for immediate operation if adopted. This proposition created considerable stir. However, it was promptly endorsed by corporation men sitting as delegates, for they could not with grace oppose it, time of then declared with much heat that he never permitted the corporations with which he was connected to influence his opinion as a delegate.

Answering this delegate, Mr. Heney said in the course of his address, which was the feature of the whole congress, that he could readily see how some corporation attorneys could conform their opinions as well as that services in the corporation.

"I have served on both sides," said Mr. Heney, "and I know. But I also know that when an attorney progresses far enough along the lines of public service, public rights and public duty to look at these things as I do, no corporation wants him or will hire him."

FIGHT ON TWITCHELL.

But this new rule had another hearing. R. E. Twitchell of Las Vegas, N. M., is one of the Santa Fe in the southwest. His nomination for the presidency met with a good deal of criticism and set opposition. His rally connection was only one of the objections raised against him but it was the only one that reached the floor of the convention. The committee had been divided between Mr. Twitchell and President Fowler, who was candidate for a second term, but it had made Twitchell's nomination unanimous. The idea of opposing the nomination on the floor was so radical and daring that Twitchell's supporters refused at first to consider it seriously. This morning they knew the fight would be made, and even when they knew they would be beaten and that the only graceful thing they could do was to withdraw their candidate, they laughed and said they would take the chance. It was Francis J. Heney of California who accepted the responsibility of bringing these questions before the congress. He offered an amendment to the report on permanent organization, substituting the name of President Fowler for that of Twitchell. In one of the most fervent, forceful and sweeping appeals ever heard by the congress in its seventeen years' existence, Mr. Heney opposed the election of a corporation attorney to the head of the organization.

HENEY'S APPEAL.

"At every turn in our effort to establish honest government and a square deal," said Mr. Heney, "we find men always in the way blocking or trying to block our efforts. In my experience, this kind of obstruction has been the hardest to overcome, for it is obstruction made by the great interests advised by the best lawyers they can hire. I beg of you from the depths of my heart, in the light of illuminating experience in dealing with the predatory interests, encountering their agents and their influence in every fight I have ever made for the people, I beg of you and I warn you do not take the risk of pitting at the head of this great democratic body a corporation attorney, and most powerful of all, railroad. You naturally want to support your committee, but I protest does not bind you to take this railroad and private lands."

The report on permanent organization, submitted by Mr. Pinchot and continued:

"We request our representatives in the federal Congress to take action, looking to the creation of an appropriate agency for this purpose, such agency to be empowered to co-operate with states."

Commending the work of the reclamation service, the resolutions say:

"We heartily favor the continuation of the service and we reaffirm our confidence in the integrity and capability of the officers of this branch of the public service."

DISCUSSIONS PLATFORM.

In referring to these reforms, John said he would only talk briefly of them, adding that it was the design of the Republican party to carry them out, rather than to talk about them and for the benefit of those who do not yet know what they are, he advised that they consult the platform as adopted at the state convention in San Francisco.

The federal forestry policy service is commended and its extension favored.

Approval is given to the withdrawal of lands suitable for homesteads from the national forest.

Laws by the states are recommended to govern the cutting of timber on state and private lands.

HIRAM JOHNSON IN SPEAKING ATTITUDE

Before an audience that packed the Barton opera house to the very doors and forced hundreds to be turned away, Hiram W. Johnson, the Republican nominee for governor, spoke last night on the issues of the campaign now in full swing in this state and gave reasons why the Progressive Republican party, as it now stands, should be rewarded at the coming election.

"I'm in the house of my friends," said Hiram Johnson to those who had assembled to hear him, and that he spoke truly was made evident by the thunderous ovation that was accorded the Republican nominee when he was introduced to the audience by J. P. Bernhard, chairman of the Republican county central committee. Continuing, he said his address would only be a talk to the people, for on the 16th of last August, as he sat in his office and read returns from this country, showing that he had been favored, three, four and ten to one, he knew then how the hearts of the people of Fresno county were turned toward him.

"I felt that I was in the house of my friends in the primary campaign. Never did I doubt the sincerity of the people of Fresno county," asserted the speaker, "and my beliefs were sustained when I sat in my office on the 16th of August and read the returns as they came in. I can't find words adequate to express my thanks to you for all you have done for me."

"What we set out to do in the primary campaign, to the Republican party and what we did to the Republican party, we are going to do next January. We are going to kick W. F. Herrin and the Southern Pacific out of the government of California."

"It wasn't for any one man's personality that the primaries went as they did, but for the great cause. I realize fully the solemn obligation which you imposed upon me then and with your help and by the grace of God I will keep that obligation. The doctrine taught then was so clear and plain that any child could understand it. There shall be no compromise."

JOHN A. DIX NOMINATED BY NEW YORK DEMOCRATS

"I Promised to Give Up-State Candidate and I Have," Says Boss Murphy--Platform "Progressive"--Tammany Slate Has Hitches.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 30.—A state convention that will go into political history as one of the most remarkable in the annals of the Democratic party closed this morning by nominating John A. Dix, chairman of the party's committee, and a wealthy Washington county business man, to run on a progressive platform of the widest type. Regarding the platform, there was from the first little or no division of opinion. But the candidate was not chosen until Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, who by virtue of his 213 delegates, was in a position to control the convention, had canvassed the merits of no less than fourteen others.

"said I would give them an up-state candidate and I've done it," was Murphy's comment on the nomination.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 30.—John A. Dix of Washington county was chosen as candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket tonight by the conference of leaders, while 400 delegates of the state convention waited two hours in their seats for the formation of the slate.

The chief cause of delay was the difficulty of filling second place. Dix had been selected and the other places on the ticket had been settled to the entire satisfaction of those who gathered in the rooms of Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, earlier in the evening.

Dix tonight yielded to the solicitation of the leaders and agreed to run. The rest of the slate was arranged as follows:

Lieutenant Governor—Thomas F. Conway of Clinton county.

Secretary of State—Edward Lancksky of Kings county.

Comptroller—Merton H. Glynn of Albany.

State Treasurer—John H. Kennedy of Erie.

Attorney General—Thomas J. Carmody of Yates.

State Engineer and Surveyor—John A. Benzel of New York.

District Court Appeals—Frederick Collins of Chemung.

Glynn refused to accept the nomination for comptroller and William Scherer of New York, Colonel Alexander Bacon seconded the nomination of Sulzer.

HISSE INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE.

Colonel Bacon mentioned the Independence League in his speech and this brought a storm of hisses.

"Hiss if you will," he shouted, brandishing his fist.

"Get the hook!" yelled a voice in the gallery.

By this time the hall was in an uproar with the chairman rapping vainly for order.

"Keep quiet," urged Colonel Bacon, "and tell you a good story."

The crowd accepted the promise and suddenly hushed its noise, only to break out afresh when it failed to appreciate the story. Colonel Bacon returned to his seat after talking nearly half an hour to make a speech that without interruption, would have lasted but ten minutes.

This time the hall was in an uproar with the chairman rapping vainly for order.

He received 432 votes to sixteen for Sulzer, and the nomination of Dix was made unanimous.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 30.—The platform adopted by the Democratic state convention today contains the following declarations:

"The Democratic party of New York, in convention assembled, pledges itself anew to the old nationalism embodied in the Constitution of the United States and to the support in every way of the independent and continued existence of each of the three separate and distinct branches of the federal government, preserving all from attack and usurpation and each from any possibility of encroachment by the others and in particular we condemn all attacks on the Supreme Court of the United States.

"We are unalterably opposed to any usurpation by the federal government on the rights of the states.

"We denounce the Republican party and the nation for its gross and wilful betrayal of the trust reposed in it by the people and point out that the declared and expressed promise to revise the tariff downward, upon which the Republicans obtained office, has been wilfully disregarded and ignored.

"The Payne-Aldrich tariff law, pronounced by President Taft to be the best tariff that the Republican party ever passed, was a flagrant breach of faith by the Republican party. That bill even included the exactions of former Republican tariffs and has placed great additional burdens on the shoulders of the average man.

"We charge the Republican party, both in nation and in state, with gross extravagance in public expenditures, with creating many unnecessary offices and adding to the public payrolls thousands of useless officials. We pledge our selves to retrenchment and reform and to the economical administration of public affairs.

"Even this gross extravagance is overshadowed by disclosures forced from a reluctant Republican legislature of official corruption, betrayal of public trust and flagrant and open bribery, which have astounded and horrified the citizens of the state and almost made the name of the New York legislature a hissing and a by-word in the mouths of decent men throughout the country.

DIRECT PRIMARIES.

"We declare in favor of state-wide direct primaries to insure to the people the right to choose members of political committees and nominate candidates for public office.

"We favor the popular election of United States senators.

"We favor an amendment to the federal constitution to permit the imposition by Congress of an income tax.

"We recommend the extension and development of the parcels post as to increase the weight and size of parcels which may be carried by United States mail.

"The front of public lands and water power sites reserved to the people at large and as the value of these natural resources and returns from them increase, whether from development or otherwise the state should benefit in the largest possible measure consistent with the honest enterprise of the present generation. We condemn the malfeasance and incompetency of Republican administration of the forest service. We demand strict and impartial enforcement of the forest laws, including immediate abolition of unlawful special privileges in land dedicated by the law to the use and benefit of all the people."

RAP "NEW NATIONALISM."

The platform concludes with a denunciation of the "New Nationalism" as follows:

"Firstly, we solemnly declare our insatiable opposition to the so-called 'New Nationalism.' Its inventor put this forward as if it were progress, while in reality it is sheer reaction to tyrannical methods long ago shaken off by the free people of the world at the cruel cost in treasure and blood. The settlers of our country fled from Europe to escape it. Advances advance its adoption would be in an advance towards imperialism. They would have us abandon freedom. They would reduce the states to prefectures governed from Washington. They would clothe the President with power to declare what is lawful—a power usurped by one president in the case of a giant corporation absorbing a competitor.

"Such a 'New Nationalism' would lay the meddling hand of a bureaucracy on every industry, increasing the burdens of taxation, making the struggle for life still harder and compelling every American workman to carry on his back a federal inspector. Against all this exaltation of federal centralized power, to the destruction of home rule, against this disarray of representative government, against this contemptuous impatience of the restraint of the confidence that the people of this state and of this nation will not forget the noble heritage of their past, but on that foundation will build the still nobler progress of their future."

JOHNSON

The people of Fresno turned out last night to greet Hiram W. Johnson, as the people are turning out everywhere to meet him. Phenomenal as was his reception in the primary campaign, the enthusiasm that follows him now eclipses even that. There has been nothing like it in the history of California.

Part of this enthusiasm is due to the magnetic personality of the man and his undoubted talent as an orator. But only part. The oratory, especially, unless it were of a tone of absolute sincerity, would be rather a disadvantage than otherwise. The ancient Greek orators, to secure the confidence of their hearers, assumed the pose of plain, blunt men, and then gradually worked up to an artistic frenzy of eloquence. People nowadays are suspicious of that game, and if Johnson had nothing but oratory, that talent would be a handicap. It is because the oratory is only the transparent reflex of an open and sincere mind that it is so tremendously effective.

Apart from the incidents of personality and oratory, two main causes account for the interest. One is the eagerness of the people to learn if Johnson will make good, under the test of success, as he did under the test of an up-hill fight. The people have seen so many men "fall down" for votes that they want to see and hear for themselves whether the one man who says he will not fall down really means it. And when they hear Hiram Johnson they know he means it, and they know he will not flinch or swerve. The high sincerity of the man is his most evident, as it is his most charming, quality.

The other motive is the consciousness on the part of the people that they are participating in a big thing. We are making history, and California for the first time is in the thick of it. It warms the heart and stirs the imagination to realize that we are a part of the big fight that is making over the Republican party and regenerating the public life of this nation. To join in the fight, and to listen to the voice of its leader is an inspiring experience.

THE SENATORSHIP

There seems to be a practically united sentiment, among prospective members of the legislature as well as among their constituents, that A. J. Spalding shall not be the next United States senator from California. The gush will not vote for him, if the orders go out for some one else, and certainly the Progressives will not support him.

Phenomenal as his vote was, considering that none of the voters knew him personally and that there was nothing in his reputation to indicate any qualifications for United States senator, that vote still fell far short of a popular endorsement. Judge Works got the most votes; and if the votes of E. A. Meserve, who now supports Works, were added, Works had behind him a huge majority of all the votes. At any rate, Spalding has neither a majority nor a plurality, and his endorsement by districts falls short of constituting an instruction under the law. Certainly, without such an instruction, positive and unambiguous, there would be no excuse for electing Spalding. He is not a Californian except technically. It is credibly stated that until his nomination for the primaries he had never slept a night in California outside of his Point Loma seaside home. He has not ever seen the capitol of the state, and would not know the way there without directions. He has no general acquaintance in the state, and no knowledge of its people, its history, its industries, interests or resources. Also, he has no general knowledge of public affairs, and has never shown any signs of being interested in them. In Chicago, where his business is, and where he really lives, he has taken no part in the public life of the city or of the state, and it never occurred even to his friends there to look him for leadership in them. They did elect "Pop" Anson, another baseball player, to city office, but nobody ever thought of Spalding even for that. Sometimes sporting enthusiasts in their heads. Boston tried to get John L. Sullivan to Congress once, but John had too much sense to permit it. Evidently Spalding did not keep his head so well. And, somehow, his familiar sporting name stampeded a surprising number of "fans" into voting for him. Since, however, their number fell short of a mandatory endorsement, it is scarcely to be supposed that the legislature could experience a like stampede.

All this may be taken as settled. But we are sorry to note, here and there, a tendency not to regard the reverse of the proposition as equally settled. The election of Judge John D. Works ought to be as certain as the defeat of A. G. Spalding. The talk of "some Progressive Republican" does not meet the point. John D. Works is a Progressive Republican, and the only Progressive Republican who submitted his name to the people at the primaries. He received the plurality of the votes at those primaries, and now if any Progressive Republican is to be elected he ought to be the man.

No one denies that he is of senatorial caliber. He is a fine, big-brained, fine-spirited man. He has served the state with distinction in the Supreme court and is familiar with its people, its problems and its needs. He has knowledge and grasp of public affairs and would be a credit to the state in the Senate. There are doubtless other Progressive Republicans in California of whom these things can also be said, but these men did not run before the people for the Senate and they are not aspiring for the legislative position now. There could be no excuse for digging up a new candidate except dissatisfaction with the one whom the people have already endorsed. There is no ground for such dissatisfaction, and there should be no hesitation in supporting Judge Works, as soon as a situation develops in which any Progressive Republican can be elected.

ORGANIZATION

It is the observation of the newspaper men traveling with Hiram Johnson that the Johnson organization is far better than the Bell organization, or than the old machine Republican organization. This refers, not to the spontaneous Johnson sentiment, which would elect him anyway even without organization, but to the business-like, systematic organization of practical politics. The "Amateur politicians" who organized the reform movement and are now in charge of the regular party organization, have far outrun the old-time machine professionals in the executive work of politics. And they have done little enough and poorly enough at that. The old "organization" was simple, a bugaboo, and an enthusiastic reception was accorded him. The Ceres school was dismissed in order that the children might just have an opportunity to listen to him. The first stop made yesterday morning was at Ceres, where Johnson delivered an address in the little town hall before an audience of 100 people that filled the little place to overflowing. Farmers packed in, for many miles to hear the Republican nominee and an enthusiastic reception was accorded him. The Ceres school was dismissed in order that the children might just have an opportunity to listen to him.

Johnson is peculiarly fortunate in the way of organization. He is surrounded by men, directing his campaign or participating in it, who are absolutely devoted to him and his cause, willing to make any sacrifice or effort for him, not one of whom wants anything for himself. The same thing extends to the outermost ramifications of the organization, and is really the chief secret of its efficiency. The old organization depended on selfish favors, and hope of reward. Disappointment or doubt might break the chain of loyalty, anywhere. The new organization, depending on unselfish loyalty, can be trusted. And this is absolutely the first time, in the history of California, that there existed, throughout the state, a band of devoted men, known to each other, trusting each other and their leaders, and looking for no personal rewards. So the organization goes back to the sentiment after all. It was a great popular uprising, in a great cause, that made the organization possible.

At Madera the gubernatorial candidate was met by a band and an audience of about 500, which added its share of enthusiasm to that which went before. During the day Johnson addressed practically 1000 people. Since he left Yreka, Hiram Johnson and his party had traveled a little over 1000 miles when they reached Fresno yesterday.

LEAVE FOR SOUTH.

The party left last night for Los Angeles on the 2nd, where Johnson will open up his campaign in Southern California on Monday. After touring Southern California he will work back up the state by automobile through the coast counties to San Francisco and will later make a trip to the south east part of the San Joaquin valley which he was obliged to pass by at this time.

Owing to the fact that this was the only address Johnson will make in Fresno county during the present campaign, hundreds flocked in from neighboring towns last night to greet him. Hiram W. Johnson has the strongest organization of any candidate that ever sought office in this state, according to statements made last night by the newspaper representatives who are in his party. On the other hand, they assert that thus far Bell has no organization whatever. These men further declared last night that the mountain counties which were formally for Bell are now solid for Johnson and will be behind him on election day.

Johnson's trip from Siskiyou has been one continuous ovation by audiences such as were seldom ever seen before in a large proportion of the towns visited.

FALLS TWENTY FEET TO INSTANT DEATH

With walking along the tramway at the Hume-Bennett Lumber Company's mills near Hume at 10 o'clock Tuesday night, P. Merlo, aged 23 years, missed his footing and fell twenty feet to his death. Merlo's neck was broken and death was almost instantaneous. The accident occurred in the darkness. Merlo was a member of the night crew at the lumber mills. The Italian had been in the employ of the company for several months. An inquest was held at Hume and the body was interred at Sanger.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONTEST.

Beginning Sunday a three month's contest is to be inaugurated between the First Christian Sunday schools of Fresno and San Jose. The points of the contest will be attendance, punctuality, bibles, offering and new members.

FLOTILLA OFF FOR PRACTICE.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 30.—Exactly at 8 o'clock this morning the projectile torpedo flotilla steamed out of the harbor bound north in San Pedro and to Heceta Bay, Santa Rosa Island, for standardization trials and regular fall target practice. The trials will be completed by October 5th and the fleet is expected to return to its home port by November 1st. Later the fleet is to go to Mare Island for docking and a thorough overhauling.

"What have the Democrats to give in place of the standards of the Republican party?" thought of anything. Now as always they are a party of negation and denunciation."

BIGGER THAN MEN.

Continuing his remarks, Johnson stated that no man's personality or individuality enters into this campaign. If there was any voter, who did not understand the designs for which he is fighting on the issues before the people now, he advised him not to vote.

Johnson further declared that those people who arrogate to themselves statements made in this campaign are taking their personality too much to themselves.

"What the Republican party is doing here," he declared, "is to raise the human being above the dollar. It is our design not to handicap any boy or girl. We want to make this American government a government of human beings and not one of dollars."

"Arrayed on the other side of this contest is every interest of the Southern Pacific, reactionaries and others who respond to the Southern Pacific calling."

"A defeat of the Republican party will not mean a Democratic victory, but rather a victory for the interests. It is a victory merely of those who were kicked out of the Republican party."

"My earnest appeal is that we may return the government to the people and go forward with that great national movement until the entire country has become a government for all the people. Good right."

Two campaign meetings by the Republican Club, under the leadership of A. C. Wahlgren, preceding and following Johnson's address, were enthusiastically received by the large audience in attendance.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CHAIRMAN.

The Presidium Chairman of the Republican county central committee, presided over the meeting and opened the meeting with a short address in which he praised the actions of Theodore Roosevelt in the East and declared that the government now on in California is only a part of the greater movement.

Seated with Johnson on the stage, were Thomas J. Lennon of San Rafael, the Republican nominee for presiding justice of the court of appeals for the third district; W. R. Williams, state treasurer; the county candidates and about 100 vice presidents. The stage was decorated with flags in an exceedingly appropriate manner.

When the curtain rose shortly after 8 o'clock, the audience, which packed the theater, responded to the opening speech enthusiastically, but when Hiram Johnson arose to address them the applause that had been given a few moments before was forgotten in the tumultuous ovation given the Republican nominee. Starting with the clapping of hands, the applause continued until the very roof shook with the thunder of voices as that vast audience bespoke its hearty appreciation of Hiram Johnson, the man, and the great cause for which he is fighting.

HAS STRENUOUS DAY.

The little party of four, including

Hiram W. Johnson, Jr., W. Russell Cole of the San Francisco Bulletin, and John P. Neyland of the San Francisco Bulletin, which has journeyed by automobile from Siskiyou to Fresno, while the leading of the party preached the doctrine of true reform, passed an exceedingly strenuous day yesterday.

Starting from Modesto shortly after 9 o'clock, the party traveled over 100 miles before it halted in Fresno at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. In that time, Hiram Johnson delivered four speeches and the one at the Barton last night made the fifth for the day.

The first stop made yesterday morning was at Ceres, where Johnson delivered an address in the little town hall before an audience of 100 people that filled the little place to overflowing. Farmers packed in, for many miles to hear the Republican nominee and an enthusiastic reception was accorded him.

The Ceres school was dismissed in order that the children might just have an opportunity to listen to him.

Turlock was reached at 10:30 o'clock, and to an audience of about 300 on a street corner, Johnson again made a full speech. The reception here was like all the others tendered on the route.

Another audience of about 300 greeted Johnson on a street corner in Merced at noon, and for the third time since he left Modesto, Johnson expounded the issues of the present campaign.

The Johnson party lunched at Merced as the guests of L. R. Johnson, F. W. Henderson, J. B. Olesce, Paul Neumann and F. A. Chamberlain. Three automobiles loaded with Republicans met Johnson outside the city of Merced and escorted him into the city to the spot where he made his speech.

At Madera the gubernatorial candidate was met by a band and an audience of about 500, which added its share of enthusiasm to that which went before. During the day Johnson addressed practically 1000 people.

The weather continues fair and the temperatures seasonable over all sections east of the Rocky mountains. During the last 24 hours there have fallen snows in the northern states and the temperature has risen over the upper Mississippi valley and upper lake region.

Although the pressure has fallen generally along the Pacific slope, no certain indications of a storm area off the coast are now discernible from this morning's reports and while it is believed that an rain will occur during the next 24 or 36 hours the weather will be unsettled and rainless growths are advised to look for later advice.

Of the school in the latter colony he was once the teacher of one of his earliest engagements after coming to this country. In Fresno Colony he found for this term a school with an enrollment of 102 pupils under five teachers and at West Park 107 pupils under three teachers, and both, as he reported, doing excellent work.

ENDORSE SECULAR PRESS.

The association, while not antagonizing those ministers who doctry the religious, took a stand against religious wholesale condemnation of the secular press as represented in the daily newspapers. It was urged that many papers especially in Southern California devote considerable time and space to covering news of purely religious interest. The laymen endorsed the attitude of the press in the following terms:

"Resolved, That we regard the press as a powerful factor in molding public opinion on morals and religion, and that we will with delight the large amount of space the regular press is giving to Christianity and morality."

ROSE STAHL BEGINS TWO NIGHT ENGAGEMENT AT BARTON TONIGHT IN "THE CHORUS LADY"

Rose Stahl, at the Barton tonight in the "Chorus Lady."

Rose Stahl comes to Fresno and will appear at the Barton tonight and Sunday night and will make her farewell appearance in James Forbes' comedy, "The Chorus Lady." Since her last engagement in this city, Miss Stahl has scored many triumphs as Patricia O'Brien, queen of the chorus, and during the past summer she presented the play for one hundred nights in London, and was received with the utmost enthusiasm, making the greatest hit ever achieved by an American star in England. It is scarcely necessary to tell the story of "The Chorus Lady" to local playgoers. Suffice it to say that the play deals with a chorus girl, who, in vernacular and bearing, is like the magazine type of coryphe, but who is at heart a very wise, and a good girl. Her attempt to shoulder the actions of a foolish younger sister for a time, puts her in a very bad light with her friends and her sweetheart, but all difficulties are finally cleared away, leaving Patrick in the arms of her Dan. The remarkable second act dressing room scene is still the sensation of the piece, as it reveals the chorus dressing room of a New York theater, with a score or more of girls preparing for the evening performance. Henry B. Harris is sending the original New York and London cast with the play, including Alice Leigh, Isabelle Goodwin, Winona Willett, Lotta Brinnell, Albie Rose, Helen Dahl, Florence Grapp, Lou Arnold, Claire Lane, Wilfred Lucas, Gil Shire, Robert Stowe, Gill, Thomas Maguire, George McNamara, Charles Check, Edgar Birch and E. G. Grant. WALKER WHITESIDE. As previously announced, Walker Whiteside in "The Melting Pot" by Israel Zangwill comes to the Barton next Friday evening, October 5th. This is the play that was received with great favor in Chicago, and since has been brought into universal notice by its stupendous success at the Comedy Theater, New York, and also by the enthusiastic series of editorials on the play that have appeared in Collier's Weekly, and other national publications, and by the unanimous endorsement of it by a notable list of eminent people. Theodore Roosevelt, Oscar Strauss, Brand Whitlock, Jacob Schiff, H. H. Tarkington, Augustus Thomas, Hamlin Garland, Onie Read, Robert H. Davis, Jane Addams, and a host of others. What will interest local theatregoers quite as much as "The Melting Pot" will be the personality of Walker Whiteside, the star Whiteside—known by his last name only as they used to know Mansfield—has been a marvelous surprise to the big cities in which he has appeared in this play. He comes from an unknown player to one of the foremost actors of his time. Yet, despite the suddenness of his rise, Whiteside's genius has long been in the process of polishing and perfection. For fifteen years he was at the head of his own company, gaining that experience and training necessary in the making of the truly great actor. His own manager and stage director, he played throughout the entire realm of classic drama and, at times, when funds were running low, he repaid them by producing romantic plays that he wrote himself. After fifteen years of the hardest kind of work, he emerged from his obscurity the best trained young actor on the American stage. Handsome, gifted with a beautiful voice, admirable taste and undoubted genius, he was engaged by Liebler and Company to play in Mr. Zangwill's remarkable play and was at once accorded the recognition he deserved.

The "CECILIAN" Piano

Wouldn't you appreciate, at the close of a strenuous day, the rest that comes from enjoying music such as your mood would dictate? Perhaps all alone, enjoying some familiar song or hymn of your childhood; or surrounded by your friends and neighbors, delight them with a "dreamy nocturne" from Chopin, or charm with the matchless majesty of Liszt—or possibly something from the latest opera.

That you have been denied the advantage of a musical education matters not at all, for this is a piano.

BY

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN

Neurasthenia or nervous exhaustion is a typically American disease, and is usually caused by a derangement of some of the structures of the body producing a constant irritation to the nervous system and a consequent leakage of nervous energy.

In these cases there is only one reasonable and rational course to pursue, that is, locate and remove the cause of the trouble. This is my specialty. Would you not like to have an examination and diagnosis of your case? It will cost you nothing. Telephone for an appointment.

mited to confer with the city trustees regarding the making of a "Great White Way" by the installation of numerous electricians on Main street, took the Southern Pacific railroad to task for violations of the law in running its engines backward between this city and Goshen junction, and placing a passenger coach next to the engine with baggage cars as train.

A chair car, the only first class coach on the evening train leaving here at 7:30, has been locked every evening and ladies have been of necessity compelled to occupy the smoker, trainmen informing the passengers that the law made it impossible to use the coach next to the engine.

The association wants to know why the road's employees do not switch the cars so that the chair car will not be next to the engine and also why the local turn table is not used to turn the engine. Two or three accidents have occurred between here and Goshen in the past few years, all due to the engine running backwards, and there is some similarity locally about riding upon the train with the engine so running.

The local complained of is an important one, connecting with No. 8 for Los Angeles and the East.

The matter has been taken up with Agent Garvert and will be referred by him to Superintendent Worthington.

Also the Merchants' Association asks a reduction in the passenger tariff between here and Goshen from 35 to 26 cents. The distance is seven miles and the latter figure is even a little in excess of the 3-cent per mile tariff allowed by law.

The residence of G. A. Noble, a local contractor, was destroyed by fire last evening. The cause of the fire is unknown. The loss of the house is $3500 with $2500 insurance, and about $2000 loss on the furniture with $1000 insurance.

Word received from the scene of operations of the Visalia Midway well in the Midway field states that the oil is flowing over the top of the casing, although efforts have been made to keep down the flow pending the performance of the casing. The well gives evidence of being an extraordinarily good one.

The handsome bungalow being erected by C. M. Griffith, cashier of the First National bank, is nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy shortly.

Herbert Swant is reported seriously ill at his home in South Locust street with typhoid fever. This is the first case of the disease in this city in several years.

Republicans are preparing for a rousing rally in this city tomorrow evening, when several candidates for county office, including Frank Lamberson, candidate for district attorney; Alfred Daggett, candidate for superior judge, and S. S. Ray, candidate for school superintendent, will speak. The band will be our and a large attendance is anticipated.

Democrats are making arrangements for the big meeting of the campaign Tuesday night in this city, when Theodore A. Bell and his running mate, Tim Spelacy, will speak at the local opera house. Local Bourbons are predicting a big crowd.

An action was commenced today by M. M. Laufenburg against W. R. Adams to secure payment on five promissory notes aggregating $2170, interest, costs and $100 attorney fees. The notes are secured by a chattel mortgage of a threshing outfit, consisting of two engines, header, tanks, etc., purchased of the Advance Thresher Company of Bath Creek, Mich., in 1884, to which company the notes were originally made and later assigned to the plaintiff. G. W. Zartman of Tulare is attorney for the plaintiff.

Lulu and Jennie Orman, children from Duhus, whose father recently deserted them and who have been in the local detention home for several days, were in court this afternoon to determine what should be done with them. OIL FIRE IN HUGE TANK SMOTHERED BY EARTH AND STEAM Adjoining Tank of 17,000 Gallons Withstands Great Heat.

Selma Will Not Close for Fair, as Fresno Stores Keep Open.

SELMA, Sept. 20.—The fire which threatened to destroy the fair works yesterday afternoon, was totally controlled just short of the blinding point, containing 6,000 gallons of oil was subdued. The smothering oil tank was put out by the combined use of steam and earth, which was hauled to the spot thrown in to smother the flames. It was certainly a relief to the fire fighters to see this flamed out, for only a few feet away was stored a tank containing 17,000 gallons of oil, and the heat was so intense at times that it was a wonder that a serious explosion did not occur. The gas company succeeded today in getting part of their machinery into shape so they could go ahead with gas making, and thus prevent their customers being without gas.

A telegram was received here late this afternoon which established the identity of the young man who died here Monday afternoon from morphine poisoning, as Charles L. Smith, whose parents reside near Valparaiso, Ind. There was nothing in the young man's effects to indicate his name except an old letter of recommendation under the name of Janet. The officers on inquiry found it was issued to him four years ago by a San Francisco firm, who thought his real name Smith. A receipt for a money order, issued at Turlock, led the officers to inquire there, and it was learned that he had sent the money to a man named Bill Fisher of Bellfontain, Ohio. The police of this city located Fisher in Rockville, Ill., and from him it was learned that Smith's family resided near Valparaiso, where a telegram reached them. The body is now being held for further instructions.

Selma's merchants had arranged to close their stores in keeping with the announced intention of the Fresno stores, but when it was learned today that some of the Fresno merchants were going to keep open, a council of the Merchants' Association decided that it was "too much like Raton Day," when surrounding towns closed up and sent their crowds to the Fresno mer-

REAR ADMIRAL EVANS DISCUSSES POSSIBILITIES OF OIL INDUSTRY

Enough Petroleum in California to Supply All Steamships Afloat for Century, Asserts Former Naval Officer; Predicts General Use of Oil.

The vast importance of California's oil industry is just beginning to be realized by those already interested, as well as by the public at large. The production of fuel oil is now the largest single industry of California. Hitherto this industry has been regarded largely as a purely local one, and not until within the past year or two has the business progressed itself as being one of international importance, one that will revolutionize and readjust industrial conditions, and that will change the aspects of war so far as it concerns naval affairs.

As regards its effect on naval conditions Rear Admiral Hesley D. Evans—"Fighting Bob," as he is known to every American citizen, admires and loves by them and by the people of other nations, is authority from a close study of the oil fields of the world who has deduced conclusions that are logical and sure to be carried out. The Admiral, in a recent interview, leaves no doubt as to his ideas of what will take place in the near future.

It is significant that the first business venture of Admiral Evans should be in the oil industry, the one industry concerning which he is thoroughly posted through his intimate knowledge of naval affairs.

After spending a week in the California oil fields, where he inspected several large oil properties under the direction of Mr. N. F. Wilson of the Lincoln Mortgage & Loan Company, of San Francisco, the announcement of the organization of the California Consolidated Oil Company was forthcoming, the company securing the Mascot, Premier and Yellowstone properties, comprising over 500 acres of the best territory in five of the prominent oil districts of the state, and having a production of more than 150,000 barrels monthly.

Pacific Coast oil will solve the problem of fuel for the fighting ships, the Admiral declares, and he follows this up with the statement that the petroleum fields of California are the greatest the world now knows, or ever has known, and that for an apparently limitless period they will produce enough oil to supply the fuel demands not only of America's warships, but of the American merchant marine as well.

"Undoubtedly the citizens of the Pacific Coast, and of Alaska, by all means should be allowed to use their own coal," said Admiral Evans in a recent interview in The Seattle Times. "I have no patience with a policy of conservation that would block the saving in labor alone to the United States navy would be enormous, for one stroke will do the work of twenty when oil is used instead of coal. If I were to say how great I think the money saving would be the newspapers would think that I had lost my mind."

Furthermore, there would be a great reduction in the number of accidents in the navy. A larger percentage of the accidents than is generally known are due to explosions in the coal bunkers resulting from ignition of coal gases.

RENNED VANDERBILT CUP RACE WILL BEGIN AT DAYLIGHT TODAY

Six Cars Are Entered in Famous Event; Six-Hour Thrill Is Promised Thousands Who Gather at Scene on Eve of Big Contest.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 30.—The Vanderbilt cup race, restored to its pristine glory of an all-night revel, was ushered in early tonight with the time-honored accompaniments of horns of ten thousand automobiles churring through sleeping villages.

Although the six-hour thrill provided by the race itself will not begin until daylight, the merriment began soon after the theaters had released their audiences and continued throughout the night. From their anchorage outside Broadway restaurants big cars, little cars and sight-seeing vans headed down with humor, freight puffed, snorted and hissed along their way toward the objective point.

Many other persons came by train, on foot and in farm wagons and carts. They found already on the course, the inevitable hawkers of frankfurters, of coffee and sandwiches and here and there a poor, forlorn and bewildered deputy sheriff making futile efforts to curb the get-rich-quick proclivities of the vendors.

The race, which starts at dawn, is a triple event consisting of the Vanderbilt cup contest, in which thirty-one cars are to circle the course twenty-two times; the Wheatley Hills contest, in which nine cars are to cover the course fifteen times and the Massapequa contest, in which six cars must make the circle ten times.

DIRIGIBLE BALLOON AT "FRESNO FAIR."
Prof. Hill Will Make Daily Flights; Wife and Daughter Also Billed for Ascensions.

The directors of the Fresno Fair Association yesterday closed a contract with Prof. L. H. Hill, the bird-man, for daily flights in a large dirigible balloon at the Fresno Fair. Prof. Hill is accompanied by his wife and daughter, Jessie, who will give sensational flights in the dirigible balloon. The flights at the Fresno Fair next week will be one of the important attractions. The dirigible captain will remain in the air at least a half hour each ascension.

Another feature of the amusement program will be daily performances by Prof. Blondin, better known as "Fearless Blondin," who will give free exhibitions in front of the grandstand on a tight wire. His act is said to be a thriller and one that always scores a hit. At night, he will walk a wire amid a shower of fireworks.

Yesterday fifteen large loads of exhibits from neighboring valley towns were hauled from the depot to the fair grounds. Today these exhibits will be installed by a large force of workmen.

AUTOMOBILE HITS NORTH PARK CAR.

While turning the corner of J and Tuolumne streets at 7:30 o'clock last evening, L. R. Eccleston, the real estate man, drove his automobile into an incoming North Park car. No one was injured. Eccleston believed that the car would come to a standstill in order that two women might get on. The women were standing on the wrong side of the street, however, and the car did not stop. Eccleston, like wise, did not slow down and before he could apply the emergency brakes he had collided with the rear end of the car. Other than a bad shaking up, Eccleston and party escaped unharmed.

FOOTBALL SEASON WILL OPEN TODAY

With a practice game between the first and second teams of Fresno High, the local football season will commence Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Chris Morrison is captain of the Regulars and Stanford is leading the Yahoos. No admission will be charged and all football fans are cordially invited to attend.

BASEBALL MEN TO MEET.
CINCINNATI, Sept. 30.—Gerry Hermann, chairman of the national baseball commission, has issued a call for a meeting of the commission here on Monday to arrange details of the world's championship series.

COACH YOST PREDICTS A GREAT SEASON FOR MICHIGAN

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 30.—"Our prospects are the best in years," declared Coach Fielding Yost last night at the close of the most satisfactory work of the year. "We shall finish our preliminary work here tomorrow and on Saturday the squad will be at work on Perry field. Never since I have had charge of football at Michigan has the early training been so promising of a successful season as this year."

Six new players were added to the varsity's repertoire. But while the coach spent some time securing perfection of the execution of the formations, most of his attention was devoted to the goal kicking attempts of Conklin. Conklin already has been named as All-America's successor as Michigan's goal kicker, and the big guard is spending over two hours a day booting the ball over the bar front all angles.

SOCER TO REPLACE AMERICAN GAME IN GOTHAM

Continual Tinkering With the Football Rules Makes Complication.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Football is losing its interest for the American school boy? Howard Bradstreet, director of New York city's fifty public playgrounds, thinks that continual tinkering with the rules has made the game so complicated that the average boy of grammar school age would rather have a simpler game for his hours of recreation.

As the result of Mr. Bradstreet's investigation of the subject, football will be turned down altogether at the New York playgrounds this fall, the place will be taken by soccer.

For boys of school age and for the young of the colleges, Mr. Bradstreet thinks that the game still holds its fascination. The youths whom he looks after are for the most part of an age below that of first year high school pupils.

Says Mr. Bradstreet:

"I find a prejudice against the game on the part of both boys and parents and accordingly I am going to organize a soccer tournament to take the place of the American game."

"It will be an easy matter to cut out football, for in the first place most boys don't care about it. The changes in the rules mean nothing to the youngest at the playgrounds because they use pretty much their own rules."

"The principal difficulty in starting soccer will be to teach the game. When the boys learn it, I am confident that they will like soccer."

2 HIGH SCHOOL YOUTHS ARE HURT IN RUGBY PRACTICE

COLUMBUS, Sept. 30.—A remarkable heat and finish occurred in the middle mile of today's 2½-mile race, a race that went to Evelyn W. second to Earl Jr. in pooling.

The Cleveland man won on the outside, with the next four lined up across the track and all so close together that even Evelyn W.'s victory was doubtful. Earl Jr. took the first heat in 2:03½, new time for him. Evelyn W. was sixth because of a break. The meeting ends tomorrow.

BEAVERS GATHER IN NINTH INNING FINISH

Oaks Lose Two Straight to Walter McCredie's Portlanders.

PORLTAND, Sept. 30.—In a wild finish, Portland won a victory yesterday from Oakland. The score was 2 to 1. Oakland cast down the hopes of local enthusiasts in the first inning by working one run across the plate. Bradfield, who had gone in to pitch for Portland, was wild as a March street took his place. Portland, however, was completely unable to trade Willis' delivery at any stage of the game, and but for a series of misses by the visitors, except at the extreme end of the contest, which took the tide of victory to the home team, Oakland would have won. Bradfield protested the playings of Helling for the third time this week. The score:

METHODISTS GIVE JUDGE LAWLER OVATION AT CONFERENCE ADDRESS

Candidate for Supreme Bench Speaks to Delegates From Southern California; Ministers Have Busy Day; Auto Trip This Afternoon.

Judge William P. Lawler, candidate for the state supreme bench, was a warmly applauded speaker yesterday morning at the regular session of the Southern California Methodist conference. On Thursday Bishop Hughes of San Francisco had invited Judge Lawler to appear and he introduced to the conference. When Judge Lawler arrived at the convention yesterday morning, Bishop Hughes interrupted the proceedings long enough to introduce him.

"I know that have a great deal of business," said Bishop Hughes, "but I feel that you could hardly excuse me if I neglected to present a distinguished gentleman who is with us today."

"I would like to introduce to you a judge of whom we have all heard, who has distinguished himself in the position he occupies, and who has always upheld the cause of the people in his judicial course. He is a man who has a large place in the hearts of the people of California, who stand for civic righteousness and the law. I refer to Judge William P. Lawler of San Francisco."

When the name of Judge Lawler was mentioned, the entire audience arose and broke into enthusiastic hand clapping. As Judge Lawler proceeded to the platform the applause increased until he proceeded to speak.

"I am profoundly touched by this expression of your kindly favor," said Judge Lawler, after addressing the Bishop and other officers of the conference, as well as the audience. "I think I catch the proper import of my presence here at this time, and the significance of your generous greeting."

"It is gratifying to realize that persons who give so much of their time and thought to the spiritual salvation of mankind are not indifferent to the duty which they own their country. It is necessary to the spiritual development of the individual that he shall be able to solve the material problems of life and to gain comfort for himself and those dear to him under political justice. This is an obligation which the individual owes to himself as less than to his country."

"To the consummation of this nation of government there must be rules prescribed and officials chosen to enforce them. In political society where the people are governed by their own consent it is imperative that they shall adopt just laws and select capable and faithful officers to put them into effect. I speak alone of the judicial officer, for his responsibilities are no heavy as right and justice are necessary to the highest development of human kind."

"I lay it down as a rule by which I expect to be judged by my fellow countrymen that if a judicial officer has not proven faithful to the obligation of his office, or if the proposition is left in doubt, he should be rejected by the people."

"I am conscious that the business before the conference precludes any extended remarks by me. I thank you most sincerely for this generous reception, and your patient attention."

Professional Skill

Is the important consideration in choosing your optometrist. The plain glass used in a pair of lenses has about the same relative value as the wood used in making a rare old violin.

"The skill which fits these crude materials to perform their allotted functions is the element of greatest value."

People who have tried the "cheap" ones realize this fact.

We offer you the finest optical service obtainable, coupled with prices that are right, fair to you and fair to us.

Our guarantee of satisfaction applies to every patron who enters our doors.

MAN IS CRITICALLY HURT RUNNING IN FRONT OF TRAIN

Francisco Giardino, Former Track Walker, Has Skull Broken at Malaga.

Operation Is Performed in Fresno to Save Life of Italian.

Francisco Giardino, who goes by the Americanized name of Frank Rogers, was perhaps fatally injured yesterday afternoon at five minutes after 3 o'clock when he was hit by a passenger train No. 7 of the Southern Pacific. Giardino lies now at the Burnett Sanitarium with a badly fractured skull. A delicate operation is being planned and performed in an effort to save his life.

Giardino formerly was a track-walker in the employ of the Southern Pacific and walked the track between Visalia and Porterville. He was laid off on Thursday, however, and it is said that yesterday he was indulging in heavy drinking.

Just before the accident he was drinking in Mattel's saloon. For some reason not known at present he started to run across the street just as the train was coming along. He attempted to cross the track just as the engine thundered up to him. Engineer Phillips slammed on the brakes before he reached the man, but there was not time enough to completely check the train.

Giardino was struck and hurled from the track by the oncoming engine. His skull was fractured just behind the right ear, and he was otherwise severely bruised.

The injured man was brought to Fresno on the same train and was rushed to the Burnett Sanitarium where Drs. O. B. Doyle, the company physician, and A. H. Sweeney performed an operation to save the man's life.

It is not thought that the man attempted to commit suicide. He is an Italian, and is said to have a family in the old country.

Later advises state that Giardino hung himself in front of the train with suicidal intent. He is an Italian, aged about 25 years. He cannot live more than seventy-two hours, say the physicians.

Letters found in Giardino's pockets indicate that his home is in Visalia. The man is said to have been drinking heavily before trying to meet death.

JUDGMENT AGAINST BROKERS WHO "RAN"

PITTSBURG, Sept. 30.—A verdict for $95,000 in favor of Charles A. Gottmann in a suit against the brokerage firm of E. P. Baxter and Company, formerly Henry J. Spuhler, Inc., was returned by a jury in common pleas court today. Gottmann alleged that the brokers disposed of his holdings in stocks on a day when the securities dropped to their very lowest, in the panic of 1907, after having granted him an extension.

The brokers' attorney argued that since their business was in the nature of a bucket shop the deal was a gambling contract and they could not be held liable.
